

Project Summary: Green River, Wyoming Phosphate Plant

Project Description:

Decontaminate and demolish phosphorus unloading and storage facilities.

Services Provided:

KASE/Warbonnet provided project supervision, equipment, materials and a cross-trained multifunctional labor force to execute the entire project.

Scope of Work:

This contract required all contaminated waste to be contained and removed from the site. Waste was removed from storage vessels as large as one million pounds, down to drainage launderers, process piping and pumps. KASE/Warbonnet provided comprehensive identification, tracking and certification, in addition to the company's proven remediation processes.

In addition, KASE/Warbonnet demolished all above-ground platforms, supports, structures, conduits, and piping, recycling most of the metal materials. All surface concrete was decontaminated and certified phosphorus-free. At project completion, 890 drums containing over 164,000 pounds of phosphorus waste were prepared meeting DOT regulations, and transported for incineration.

Safety Record:

Over the course of this difficult, hands-on project, 8000 work-hours were recorded without a lost time or OSHA-recordable injury.

Mr. Lee Hansen, FMC Green River Project Manager, in his project wrap-up report:

I would strongly recommend KASE/Warbonnet for any future work requirement by FMC or Astaris when additional resources are needed, not just in the decontamination arena, but in most heavy industry applications.

All above-ground structure and piping at Green River were removed. Most of the metal materials were recycled. At project completion, more than 164,000 pounds of phosphorus waste were prepared meeting DOT regulations, and transported for incineration.
